SHE'S THE VIBE

50 Journal Prompts for When You're Stuck

Practical. Pretty. You.

Your words are the way back to yourself.

shesthevibe.co

How This Works

These prompts are for the days your brain won't shut up, the mornings you don't know where to start, and the nights you need to get it OUT of your head and onto paper. There's no right way to use them. Pick one. Write messy. Skip around. Come back when you need to. Your journal doesn't judge — that's the whole point.

The Only Rules

- One prompt a day, or binge ten at 2am — your call
- Give yourself at least 5 honest minutes per prompt
- Write the first thing that comes up, even if it's ugly
- Especially if it's ugly

Self-Discovery

get to know the real you

1. What did you love doing as a kid before anyone told you what was 'appropriate'?

2. Describe yourself in 10 words — then circle the ones that actually feel like YOU.

3. What are you pretending not to know about yourself right now?

4. If nobody would judge you, how would you spend your Saturdays?

5. What part of yourself have you been dimming to keep someone else comfortable?

Self-Discovery

get to know the real you

6 Write about a moment you felt most like yourself. What were you doing?

7 What do you want people to feel when they meet you?

8 What's something you're good at that you never give yourself credit for?

9 If your life had a theme song right now, what would it be and why?

10 What would you do this week if you trusted yourself completely?

When You're Overwhelmed

for the days your brain won't shut up

11 Dump it all out: everything on your mind, no filter, no organizing. Go.

12 What's the ONE thing actually bothering you underneath all the noise?

13 What can you put down today that was never yours to carry?

14 Write a permission slip to yourself for something you need right now.

15 What does your body need that you've been ignoring?

When You're Overwhelmed

for the days your brain won't shut up

16 List 5 things that are actually in your control today.

17 What would 'good enough' look like today instead of perfect?

18 Who or what is draining you most right now? Be honest.

19 What would you tell your best friend if she were in your exact situation?

20 What's one tiny thing that would make today 10% better?

Relationships

the people stuff, let's untangle it

21 Who makes you feel most like yourself? What do they do differently?

22 What pattern keeps showing up in your relationships that you're tired of?

23 Write the conversation you've been avoiding. Say the unsaid thing.

24 What do you need from the people closest to you that you've never asked for?

25 Describe a relationship that taught you something painful but valuable.

Relationships

the people stuff, let's untangle it

26 Where are you over-giving? Where are you under-receiving?

27 What does a healthy 'no' feel like in your body?

28 Who do you need to forgive — including yourself?

29 What kind of friend/partner/mother are you becoming? Is she who you want to be?

30 Write a love letter to someone who deserves to hear it — maybe it's you.

Breaking Cycles

the cycle ends with you, babe

31 What did you learn about love growing up that you're actively unlearning?

32 What cycle ends with you? Name it out loud on this page.

33 What would you do differently than the generation before you?

34 Write about a moment you chose differently than your mother would have.

35 What story about yourself are you done telling?

Breaking Cycles

the cycle ends with you, babe

36 Who told you you couldn't? What did you do anyway?

37 What's one belief you inherited that was never actually yours?

38 How has surviving hard things made you stronger — not bitter?

39 What are you teaching the next generation just by how you live?

40 Write to the younger you who needed someone in her corner. Be that someone.

Dreaming Bigger

go ahead, want the big things

41 If money and fear weren't factors, what would your life look like in 3 years?

42 What's the dream you've been calling 'silly' that won't leave you alone?

43 Describe your ideal morning, in detail. Now: what's one step toward it?

44 What would you create if you knew people would love it?

45 Who do you admire and what specific quality of theirs do you want to embody?

Dreaming Bigger

go ahead, want the big things

46 What's something you've always wanted to learn? Why not now?

47 Write your own 'I made it' moment — where are you, who's there, how does it feel?

48 What does success look like for YOU — not Instagram, not your mama, you?

49 What's one bold move you could make this month?

50 Finish this sentence 10 times: 'I am becoming a woman who...'

You Showed Up. That Counts.

Fifty prompts down — or fifty to go, whenever you're ready. If these helped you hear yourself a little clearer, imagine what a whole guided journal could do. Check out the full She's The Vibe journal collection, or book a free 20-minute Vibe Session and let's talk about where you're headed.

shesthevibe.co

Practical. Pretty. You.